From the opening of the school year in September to its closing days in June, the Clarion of 1966 gives a picture of U High as a A YEAR OF CHANGES. In classes, at sports and at dances, this year became one worth remembering.

White boots, granny dresses and surfers crosses were the new fads as well as conversation topics. Television taping in the classrooms and the combination of some courses to train students to think aided the academic department. Wrestling practice moved into the lounge after school, and a tennis team was formed in the spring. Study hall rules worked on a trial and error basis, and new semester exam schedules were tested.

This, A YEAR OF CHANGES, precedes years of memories.

Traditions

The first place winning senior float promised to "Prune the Maroons."

This year's Homecoming parade was a very enjoyable one. The weather was at its best as the float entries lined up at University Street. The U High band led the parade drawing the attention of the viewers. Queen Jo Ryburn sparkled on the queen's float as the members of her court proudly waved to the crowd. Floats of the various homerooms followed in succession.

The varsity cheerleaders also rode in the parade as they have in the past.

"Prune the Maroons" was the theme of the first place float built by senior homerooms 23 and 25, followed by "We'll Wring 'Em" in second place. The floats were judged on originality and beauty.

Both time and effort were put into our Homecoming Parade. Enjoyment as well as victories resulted.

Parade Leads Way For Homecoming Activities

The Queen and her court brighten up the parade with smiling faces as they pass the spectators.

Smiling Jim Hodge drives cheerleaders Nancy Rosenthal and Rachel Laubaugh along the parade route.

Marching ahead of the band, Ron Porter keeps everyone in step.

The Pioneers halted a Clinton uprising in the second half of the game at Hancock Field to win the Homecoming game, 20-13.

The winners dominated the first half when they held the Maroons scoreless while scoring two touchdowns themselves. The first tally came when Ken Philpot scooted for 20 yards to pay dirt with 8:01 remaining in the initial period. Ron Goben kicked the extra point.

Dominating the remainder of the period, U High scored again on the first play of the second quarter on Vince Lott's one yard run. The pass on the try-for-point was wide and the score remained at 13-0 for the half.

After the intermission Clinton's defense stiffened and U-High did not score until the first play of the fourth period. Plunging over again from the 1 yard line, Lott raised the Pioneer's total to 19 and Goben's conversion made it 20.

In the final period Clinton put on an aerial show which resulted in two touchdowns but still not enough to overtake the Pioneer's lead.

Starting off another one hundred years, this year's Homecoming was "Only the Beginning".

Climaxing the dance was the official crowning of the queen, Jo Ryburn and the king, Jim Hodge. After the coronation the royalty and their court led off a dance. Soon to follow were the dimming of lights and a few lingering couples who will return for another Homecoming celebration.

'Oriental Charm,' The Winter Formal, Attracted Many Students

Couples dance with an Oriental Charm at the Winter Formal.

"Oriental Charm", was the theme for this year's Sophomore Winter Formal. It was planned and decorated by the sophomore class. There were many unusual decorations which helped to set the mood. In the center of the ballroom sat a large oriental hut circled by Chinese lamps. This was one of the many touches of oriental charm.

Two short dances at intermission were performed by sophomore Karen Hamilton. Karen was dressed in an interesting oriental costume.

Tom Woods and his band played for the dance-goers. Cokes were available in the lobby. Souvenir pictures were taken by Camera Craft Studio. The sophomore class created an interesting background so all would remember the oriental charm at the Winter Formal.

Dream Highlights Junior-Senior Prom

The Junior-Senior Prom held in May was a memorable evening for all. First, at the banquet held in the Union, the senior class prophecy was read as the hungry hosts and guests ate their meal. Mr. John Hodge was the guest speaker for the evening. A nine Bill Oetzel's band was ready to play for the U High upperclassmen. Pictures were taken by Nitzel Studio. Cindy Eaton and Eric Larson were crowned Prom Queen and King. At 1 a.m. the prom goers returned to the Union for an informal dance. The Warlords and the Venturas played popular hits while Ray Van Stein, WLS's Peter Fugitive, was host to the group.

At 5 a.m., the tired, worn-out crowd retreated to their homes where they probably remained the rest of the weekend.

Assemblies In Gym, Parties Add To Spirit,

The Dynamic Duo finds time to attend a U High assembly.

Muscles, speed, and power come in surprising packages at a pep assembly before a game.

This year, assemblies were held both in the gym and in Capen Auditorium. At the pep assemblies in the gym, each class sitting in its general cheering section, added competitive spirit.

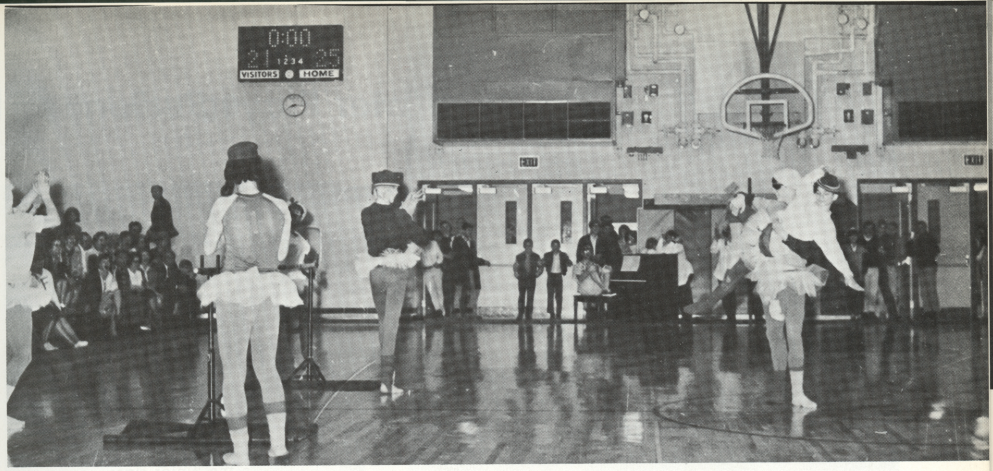

All-School Parties were held in the U High lounge on some evenings after football and basketball games. Various area bands provided music for the students.

Also this year, after school coke parties made their debut. Profits went to the junior class.

Both of these activities provided enthusiasm and enjoyment for U High students and faculty.

Three One-Act Winter Plays Performed In

The newlyweds perform a ceremonial duty in "Our Town" as the family looks on.

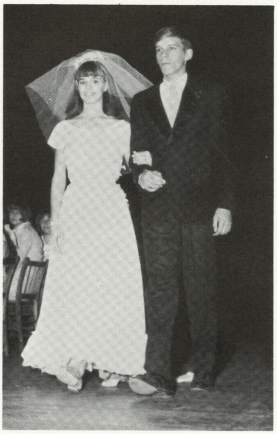

"Our Town" was chosen to be the first play of the year. The three-act play portrayed typical small town life and used little scenery. A stage manager, Dick Larrabee, remained on stage informally throughout the action to explain and help move the story along. The simple love story of George Gibbs, Linc King, and Emily Webb, Sally Swarm, was the center of the plot.

The winter one-act plays were presented in a new way, a "Theater in the Round." A small stage was built in the lounge with seating on three sides; this exposed much more of the stage than before. Food was also served during the plays.

The first of the three plays was, "The Bridegroom Waits," a polite comedy with serious overtones about a bride a few hours before her wedding. "Bontche Schweig" was the second play. It was about the trial of a soul in heaven. The last play was the "The Bald Soprano", a humorous play with little or no meaning.

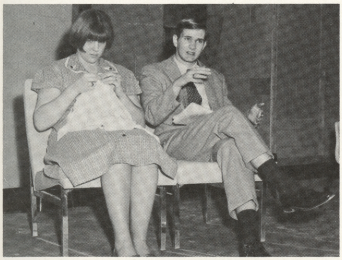

Dick Larrabee displays a bewildered look as Linc King bows sorrowfully to Sally Swarm and Butch Danenberger.

Elaine Schramm tells Linc King that picking up cards is a favorite pastime in The Curious Savage.

Spring produced the "Curious Savage". This was the story of a woman who was committed to a mental institution by her family because she was spending the family fortune on things she had always wanted.

Elaine Schramm, Peggy Wesle, Terry Oltman, Ellen Crawford, Linc King, Martie Goetsch, Dick Larrabee, and Sally Swarm were the leading characters in the season's plays.

Director of all the plays was Mr. Connolly of the speech department. A few students took part in assisting the direction of the winter plays.

"Carousel," a musical, was chosen as the first play for next year.

AFS Club Comes Into Existence

Mohammed Haroon displays his new watch given to him as a birthday present from the senior class, as Dale Neal and Eric Larson look on.

1965-66 marked the beginning year for the U High AFS Club. It was originated by all interested students. The purpose of this club is to create spirit and to help earn money so U High may continue to have foreign exchange students in the future.

The club held its meetings on a regular basis. They installed new officers and discussed many AFS activities with their sponsor, Mr. Kives.

This year, we were fortunate to have a student from Afghanistan, Mohammed Haroon. Haroon told us about his country and its customs as well as his family and school. We enjoyed having him with us. Haroon was also a member of our AFS Club and helped us to originate many new ideas.

This was an election of change and new ideas that resulted with Steve Graves, president, Norm Nierstheimer, vice president, Angie Shaw, secretary, and Vivian Collie, treasurer.

It's Mr. Ruud's turn for refreshments at the reception after Baccalaureate.

The Baccalaureate vesper service was held in Capen Auditorium on June 5. The seniors donned their caps and gowns in the old U High building, which brought back many memories. The Rev. Gordon B. White, pastor of the First Methodist Church, gave the address entitled "Be a Square!" He assured us that he and our parents' generation were considered "square," a category into which we too no doubt would some day fall. Following the service a reception was given by Dr. and Mrs. Lovelass for the seniors and their parents.

Commencement marked the final moment for the seniors. Dressed in neatly pressed gowns and hats with green and gold tassels, our seniors slowly walked to their seats in the ISU outdoor amphitheather. The Reverend Frank A. Marks began with the invocation. Dr. Bone was guest speaker. Steve Hackett entertained the audience with his French horn solo and Deni Houck displayed her talent on the marimba.

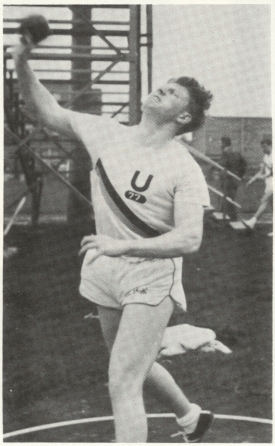

The benediction followed the awarding of diplomas and the seniors left the amphitheater as a group for the last time.

Early in the first quarter of the first game at Monticello, Senior Quarterback Ken Philpott was injured. Although hopes of a winnnig season seemed to fall as he did, the Pioneers, with a fierce ground attack, went on to build a 5-1 record by October's end.

One-point, one-touchdown, and two-touchdown losses closed out a season which saw U-High's conference championship hopes dashed with the 6-0 loss to Normal.

Dale Neal and Ron Hage were selected most valuable players by the team, and Cal Hubbard and Rolf Anderson were elected co-captains for next year's season. Seniors receiving letters were Bob Bradshaw, Jim Coatney, Bruce Dean, Randy Freedlund, Ron Goben, Ron Hage, Jim Huson, Phil Jarke, Eric Larson, Doug Mitchell, Dale Neal, Rich Phillips, Ken Philpot, and John Scott. Underclassmen receiving letters include Rolf Anderson, Roger Hage, Cal Hubbard, Bill Kohlmeyer, Rob Landes, Vince Lott, Gerry Schroeder, and Tom Thetard.

The team had victories over Normal, Clinton, LeRoy and Fairbury. Their solid play has led many to believe that U High football teams have a bright future.

Cross Country Team Wins Corn Belt

Conditioning and determination really paid off for this year's cross-country team coached by Robert Metcalf.

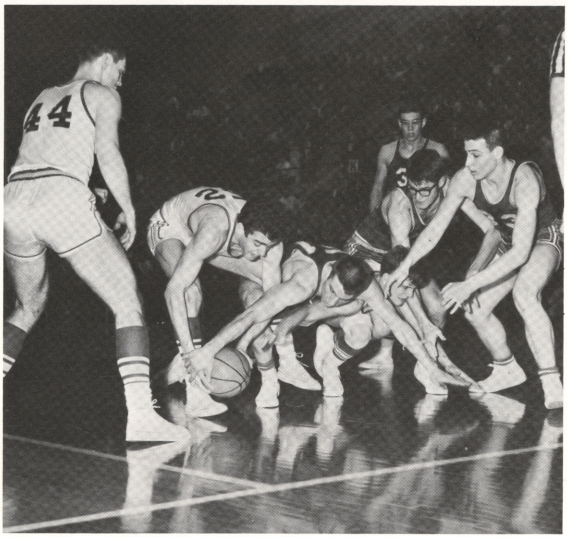

In only the second season at U High, Coach Metcalf and his reliable first five finishers brought the first cross-country Corn Belt Conference championship. Responsible for most of the victories were Doug Warlow, Mike Wiant, Steve Tuttle, Denny Stuart and Terry Scarbeary. These boys were more affectionately known as Flash, Speed, Cotton, Ralph, and Roger of the Gordon Family.

The team's success was not limited to our conference, however. In five of their last six dual meets, the harriers came out on top. The end of a grueling but rewarding season came at the district in Champaign where the boys placed sixth out of twenty-five teams.

Basketball Team Takes Regional Championship

Kent Taulbee and Eric Larson scramble for the basketball as Norm Nierstheimer prepares to add assistance.

An exciting season that brought the school's first regional championship in 20 years left U High fans hoping for more of the same kind of basketball in the next year or two.

Exciting? Nine games, six of them victories, were won or lost by a margin of three points or less, including the first two games played on the Pioneers' new home court. The greatest margin of loss was eight points in the final game of the season, the first round sectional game against Taylorville, when the team was in contention until the final moments.

With that loss, the season's record, built primarily on a nine-game mid-season winning streak, went to 20-6. That record included a third in the Kankakee holiday tournament, an Intercity championship, and a tie for the Corn Belt championship with Washington.

The players scored many convincing victories and, although some ragged play resulted in a few defeats, the future seems bright. The young Pioneers' coach, Frank Chiodo was, as some players said, 'pretty mad once in a while', but one was pleased with the overall outcome and should be optimistic towards an even better year for the boys in 1966-67.

With sophomores pacing the way, the U High wrestling team compiled an 11-5 record in dual meets and other outstanding performances on the side. With eight sophomores on the varsity squad, the young and rather inexperienced squad did quite well. Outstanding individual performances came from Eric Bates, Dale Neal, and Les Armes. The latter placed fourth in the state as only a sophomore.

The wrestling future is bright with many experienced boys returning, and still better seasons are expected.

Baseballers Finish Season Without A Title

Stealing one of his many bases is Norm Nierstheimer.

The baseball team finished this season by dropping a 7-4 decision to Normal Community in the second round of the Lexington District Tournament.

Unable to bring home a trophy, the team finished with a third place in the Intercity and a second place in the Corn Belt.

Norm Nierstheimer led the squad in batting by stroking out 21 hits in 53 at bats for a .396 average. He also led the team with 10 stolen bases. Dale Neal followed Norm with a .333 average and led the team with runs batted in. Neal and Nierstheimer also provided mound strength. Neal had a 4-3 record and Norm had a 3-0 record. At the close of the season Dale and Norm were chosen co-captains and co-most valuable players.

Next year's outlook seems good. Only Neal, shortstop Jim Hodge, catcher Doug Mitchell and outfielder Jerry Bratcher are graduating.

--So Do Golfers

This year's golf team had its problems with wind and rain, but on the few ideal golfing days, members gave worthy performances.

Improvements were made over last year's season of wins and losses, and the team finished well in the conference and district meets.

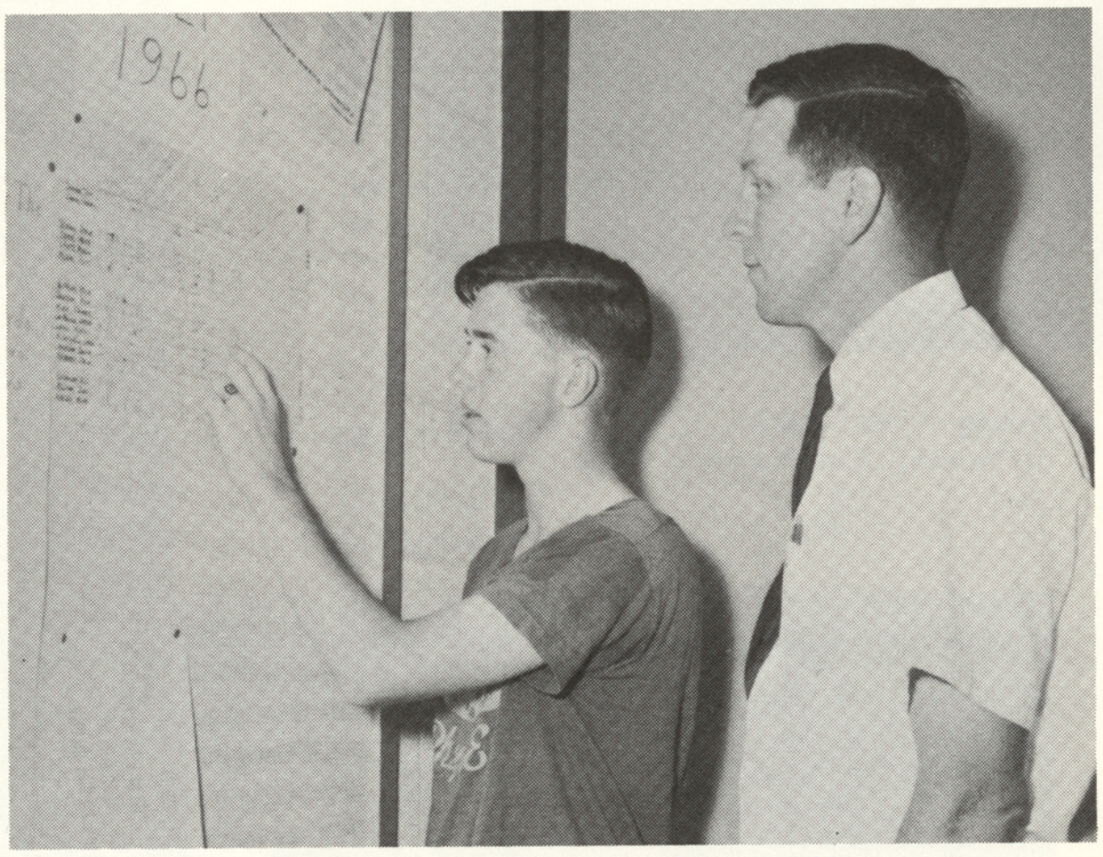

Underclassmen made up the starting squad, which makes next year's season look promising, although Coach Metcalf will be on leave.

Tennis, a new spring sport this year, faced many problems as the season began. Todd Miller, who holds many titles, was unable to play because he had taken part in a winter tournament. Most schools our size do not have tennis teams so that meant a great traveling distance. Mr. Chiodo was appointed coach. A tie season brought hopes for a winning season next spring.

Another young team this year was the track team. Few victories this year will bring back experienced members next spring to spark the field of events. The most outstanding event during the year was the fresh-soph relay which broke many records.

Homecoming Is First Student Council Project

Selling beanies and buttons began the many activities Student Council was responsible for. This led the way for the early Homecoming festivities. A new parade route was chosen which enabled the parade to end in our parking lot.

United Fund week followed. Once again classes were racing against each other for the most money. A total of $547 was turned over to the community.

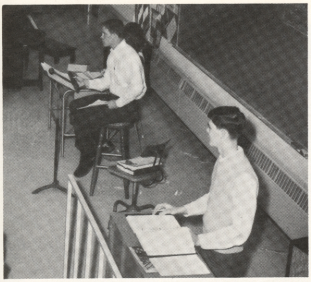

A new semester exam schedule was tried out. Classes met alternately, one for ninety minutes the other for a half hour. Second semester the council decided to go back to the two days with each class one hour. Temporary study hall rules were also made.

Campaigning for the next year's Student Council officers came in the spring. Council was responsible for the rules governing electioneering and the voting. A tie for president led the election into another week. Steve Graves was elected president with Norm Nierstheimer vice president, Angie Shaw secretary, and Vivian Collie treasurer.

Making the signs for all the athletic events was the responsibility of Pep Club. The banners and signs not only brightened up the halls, but brought about more enthusiasm to the students. During the first round of the state basketball tournament they filled one wall of the lounge walls with paper glasses and balloons and a sign reading "Champaign Fever."

The cheerleaders made up new cheers and pepped up the old ones. At the pep assembly for the regional basketball tournament the varsity girls got together with Coach Chiodo and initiated the song "Our Boys Will Shine Tonight."

U Club sponsored several all school parties and initiated new members.

With more girls interested in FHA this year, the club was able to take on new activities. Girls began this year selling cookbooks to raise money for an all school party and a field trip to Chicago. New members were required to go through a week of initiation.

Early in the spring the girls were hosts to a "daddy date night." This was the first one they have had.

More planned programs were on the agenda for FBLA. Business and civic leaders were invited to talk with students about future job openings. The club also sponsored Carolyn Scott for FBLA state treasurer, Mary Kay Hirsch for the runner up Miss FBLA and a spelling team which advanced to the national contest.

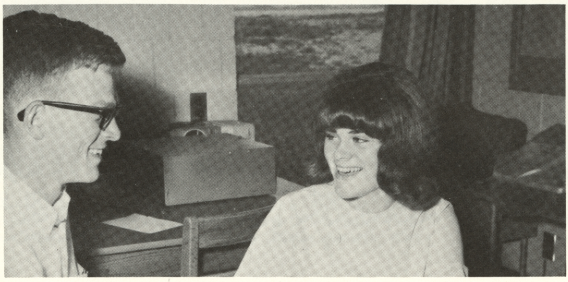

Members of the Harlequins and Thespians took part in the plays and stage work of the plays. At meetings short plays were read and interpreted; plans for initiation were also made. They sponsored Phil Shaw in the "Ugly" contest. Before school was out members relaxed at a picnic.

This year the layout, business, copy and photography staffs were busy combating the ever-present deadline.

It all began early in the school year with the selection of editors and sign-up of the numerous staff members. The year continued with everyone trying to pull his load. And the result of their labors? This yearbook!

D.O. Trains Students In Their Job Interests

Boys interested in working with projectors and other audio-visual equipment were finally able to prove their skills. Mrs. Metzler, the librarian, started the club. Each boy spent a free hour repairing and checking out the equipment. The club hopes to be more active next year since many members will already be experienced.

Diversified occupations class met daily at Normal. The program is designed for juniors and seniors and trains them for various jobs. Students earn credits while at the same time learning for their future.

Beginning its first year of existence, Great Books was led by Mr. Parmantie. Members read various book selections on their own and then discussed them as a group at the meetings.

Under sponsorship of Mr. John Carlock and Mr. Harold Moore, a day was planned for the Science Club members to go on their annual trip. Many members worked on projects again.

Y.C.C.I., sponsored by Miss Alexander, enjoyed a field trip to Nauvoo during the spring. Also the members of the club enjoyed guest speakers, and slide presentations by guests and members. The club helped in the Great Decisions program.

A Latin banquet for all past and present students of Latin was one of the main projects of the club. Food that was customarily eaten by the Romans was served with spoons as the only utensils. Entertainment was provided by the second and third year students. Freshman boys acted as pages and served the meal.

In spring Latin club also hosted a tea for incoming students interested in taking Latin in the fall.

German club helped sponsor a Christmas party with the other language clubs. They also learned songs and read books outside of class to broaden their knowledge of the language.

The French Club did not have its usual Christmas party this year, but instead spearheaded an all-language party where foods from all countries were eaten and various songs were sung.

Both French and Spanish Clubs have seen slides of their countries and have had discussions on native "arts."

The Spanish Club acted out a Spanish version of "Peter and the Wolf" while the French Club planned a melodrama for their revived French banquet.

Both groups have worked out a new constitution this year and have had regular and well attended meetings. They have been looking forward to new members and more fun in the years to come.

Marching at games, practicing for concerts and playing for pep assemblies kept our musicians busy this year. The marching band performed at football games, adding to the atmosphere. Spirits soared to the rafters of the new gym at pep assemblies.

For the second year we had a drum major, Ron Porter. This year Ron also doubled as a drum soloist for the Homecoming game. The majorettes contributed their talents toward making the best year yet.

The orchestra season was highlighted by a number of public appearances both at U High and elsewhere. In October the string section attended the Bloomington string clinic at Bloomington High.

To qualify for All-State, the members had to audition at the district festival held in November. As a result of this festival, four members qualified. Narda Cisco, Lesley Manring, Steve Bishop, and Steve Hackett represented U High.

During the school year, the 39-member orchestra gave three concerts. In December it was joined by the band and chorus for the annual Christmas concert.

Again in May the complete music department appeared for a concert. Numbers played by the orchestra were "The Unfinished Symphony," and the complete score from "The Sound of Music."

Adaptation to a new way of doing things was the problem facing the administration in the fall of 1965.

Dr. Bone led us with the same guiding hand, invisible but felt. We were not aware of it all of the time, but he was there making important decisions for us.

Coordination of the administration, office staff, faculty and students was Dr. Lovelass' job. The intercom system made it easier for Mr. Legg to keep in contact with the students.

Miss Huggins arranged our schedules with greater ease. The problem of having classes in many different buildings was greatly relieved by our more unified arrangement. Better facilities were enjoyed by Mrs. Metzler, Mr. Doerr and Miss Yagodich. Greater efficiency enabled these administrators to do a better and more complete job.

Roman Banquet, New French Cabaret Dinner

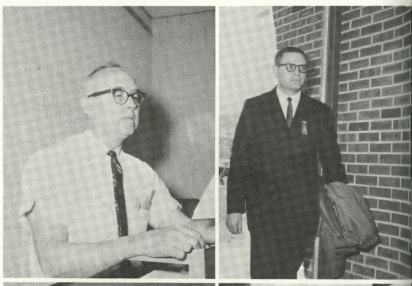

In the spring of '65 the gears shifted for U High's English and foreign language departments. The months of this school year have been spent compensating for that uprooting, settling into routine, taking stock of new problems as they appeared and looking for new ways to deal with them.

Miss Humphries' Latin students continued the tradition of the Roman Banquet, complete with students in flowing white togas, while Miss Emswiler helped French students organize the new idea of a French style cabaret dinner.

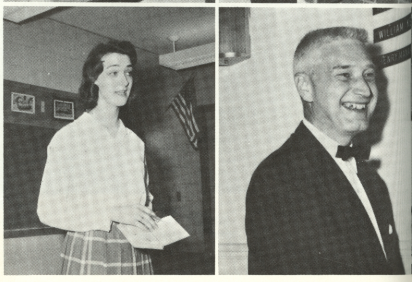

Mr. Albert succeeded Mr. Brome at midyear as head of the English department and Mr. Kives introduced the students to modern African literature.

Now at the end of the year other changes are in the wind, new language labs and the study and revamping of the English curriculum. Next year promises even more change and a better and more modern language department.

Many students probably noticed members of the biology department gathering apparatus from the cafeteria during lunch hours. They were collecting food containers for use as culture dishes. The prairie which is south of the building now contains one hundred species of vegetation and permanent records have been started on the plants. With the return of Mr. Gray, world history has taken a new twist. His students look at world history with more vigor, interest, and in new perspectives. Ideas have become as important as events and dates. Material studied, as well as general history, include sociology, anthropology, philosophy (religion), psychology, math (logic), and physics. Basic questions are also applied to each culture that is studied.

Mrs. Oliver is a new faculty member in the department. Besides teaching U.S. History, she has been the junior class sponsor.

Mrs. Halvorson became the economics teacher when her student teaching assignment under Mrs. Ramseyer ended.

Materials Add To Quality Education

A change in U High's speech department this year was the addition of Miss Alice Baumgartner to the teaching staff. Miss Baumgartner taught speech and directed U High's debate activities during the 1965-66 school year.

According to Mr. Kermit Laidig, geography teacher at U High, changes in his department were centered around the addition of a great many new maps to the materials of the department. These were, for the most part, war maps of the type used in World War II. Because of this addition, those students who elected to study geography found a new and interesting type of study.

University High School acquired a new psychology teacher in the spring of 1966. Joining our faculty was Mr. Howard Arbes. In addition to his teaching duties at U High, Mr. Arbes has also been the assistant director of Wright Hall and an instructor in education at Illinois State University.

1965-66 has been a very busy year for the business department. Besides caring for the regular studies and functions, it has initiated a new course called office practice.

This course is open to students enrolled in advanced shorthand. The girls have worked at various firms in Normal. Those who could, worked for two hours a day.

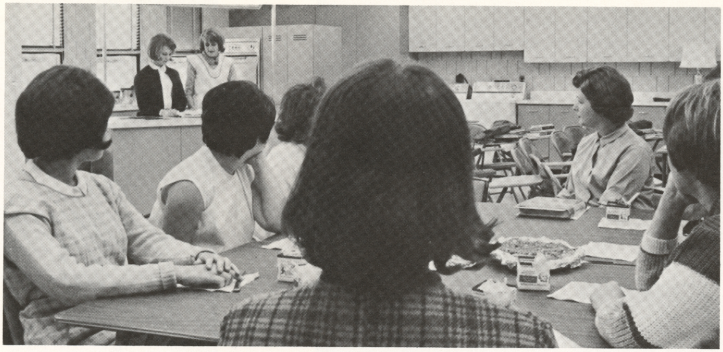

Two or three of the students had schedules permitting them to go far from school. To gain experience, these girls worked two hours a week in offices on campus.

The students are visited on the job. This gives the teacher an opportunity to see how each person is progressing.

The purpose of this office occupations program is to give the student some actual office experience.

The fashion show was the climax of the clothing unit. This year it was held at ISSCS. Every girl participated in it. Because of the new clothing lab, the teachers were able to help the girls on their garments.

Again this year, Mrs. Bradford's girls took some memorable field trips. They went to Lacon Woolen Mill and to the Merchandise Mart in Chicago. While studying homes and furnishings, they visited homes under construction.

Industrial Arts Gains Possession Of Own Equipment

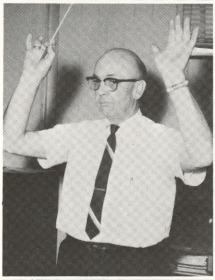

Welding equipment together, a student displays protective garments which must be worn in the shop.

From the smallest hand tool to the largest machine, industrial arts equipment is all new. The shop is the first one entirely in our possession. In previous years, industrial arts classes have had to use ISU's equipment and are still using some tools.

Industrial arts education provides necessary pre-vocational skills and information for students and serves as preparatory courses for engineering or technical schools on the post high school level.

Band, orchestra and chorus, unlike other classes, call for teamwork. Music is an area in which everyone must cooperate at the same time to get results. This is the only subject in which everyone depends on everyone else.

This year was the organizing year for the music area. Band got settled into its new quarters with a permanent place for uniforms, music and instruments. Chorus was split up by the two lunch hours and to coordinate activities they had meetings with representatives from each chorus and the officers.

Although orchestra does not yet have a permanent room for practice, their performances were not hindered. Members made fine showings at concerts, festivals and contests.

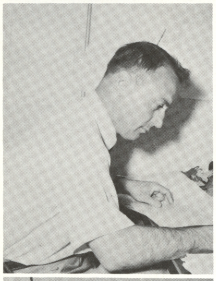

Besides being attractive, the art room is also useful in assisting the art program to provide encouragement, guidance and development to those who have a special interest in art.

Fencing, Gymnastics, Bowling

Miss Ruth Bird
Mrs. Ann Jutte
Miss Barbara Sailors

Due to the added space found in the new building, girls' physical education has had the opportunity to expand into a new field—gymnastics. Girls learned more about balance and coordination on such new equipment as the horse, the trampoline, and the uneven bars. Twenty upperclass girls had the opportunity to practice fencing in after school hours. Softball and tennis were chosen by the girls instead of a new activity—archery. Bowling in the gym was also a new experience.

More comprehensive physical fitness tests have now become a vital part of the boys' physical education. Students are tested on their f l e x i b i l i t y , their static strength, their body coordination and equilibrium. Soccer gave the freshman boys a workout in its debut at U High. When prom was close at hand, the upperclass boys began looking ahead. They took up regular bowling and learned the basic principles of the game. With the added space, much emphasis was placed on track and field. In the future, the boys' physical e d u c a t i o n department looks forward to many new facilities and a changing program.

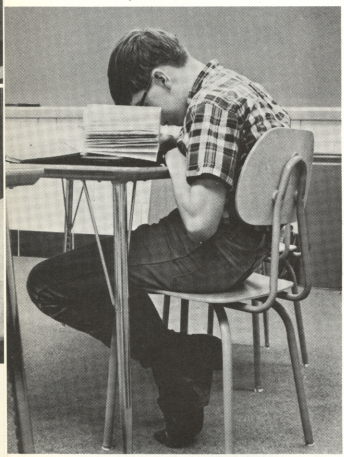

Two bomb scares lengthened both boys' and girls' gym classes. During the first of two, sixth hour classes entertained both faculty and students with exciting games of softball. The girls' game attracted a much larger crowd, with Miss Sailors getting most of the faculty's support.

Beginning the second century, this year's seniors led the way in every event. Homecoming came first and the seniors took first and second place with "Prune the Maroons" and "We'll Wring 'em."

When it came to raising money they were also in first place. In the United Fund Drive they were top with $125 but slipped into second place in the AFS drive with $216. Nancy McLaughlin and Phil Jarke were finalists in the "Ugly" contest during AFS week.

Thirty-five seniors headed the honor roll each nine weeks. Throughout the year students were being accepted to colleges as far west as Stanford and as far east as Harvard and Yale.

"A Diary of My High School" was performed Class Night. A podium was given to the school and the seniors left Capen for the last time singing "U high Is Our School."

State Farm Entertains Seniors

Mike Swisher and Kris Moreland cool their feet after a long hike at State Farm Park.

Bob Belshe and Mark Ross talk over common interests as Lyle McCormick helps them soak up the sun.

This year Senior Skip Day was again held at State Farm Park. For those early risers, golfing was open at Highland Park. At 9:30 a.m. ISSCS buses were waiting at the U High building to carry the late sleepers to State Farm. Tennis, sunbathing, baseball and other "dry" sports were available there. Lunch was catered by Williams Bakery. Those who wished to swim could do so from 1-4 P.M. until the buses arrived to carry the sunburned, sore-muscled seniors back to U High. It was a memorable occasion for all.

Mrs. Metzler demonstrates the proper way to win a shuffleboard game.

Miriam Thomas and Patty Kelly take advantage of the warm sun on skip day.

1965-66 Junior class officers are Rachel Laubaugh, treasurer; Earl Dunbar, president; Nancy Rosenthal, selling chairman; Collette Armstrong, asst. selling chairman; Janet Miller, secretary, and Norm Nerstheimer, vice president.

This year's junior class's main goal, as is the junior goal every year, was to put on a successful prom for the seniors. Never before have such hurdles been cleared on the path toward prom. All the juniors pitched in, but one necessity was lacking—money. There were no lounge machines this year which in previous years were a main source of profit. Thus, the ingenious juniors set up a coke hour after school. Wrestling practice cut this short, though, during the winter season. A paper machine in the lounge brought in some money while energetic juniors went from door to door selling candy. Surrounding the candy and coke stand at home basketball games were busy juniors, rushing to earn money. Short sleeved sweatshirts, arriving near the end of the year, took much of the load off the junior's backs, but, as prom drew nearer the juniors realized that bills were mounting quickly. A Midsummer Night's Dream finally came true on May 30. A new idea added to the life of prom with WLS's Ray Van Steen (alias Peter Fugitive) serving as MC after-prom dance.

Angie Shaw sings her famous "Kansas City" style at an all-school party.

Student cheerleaders cheer their team on to victory despite the final results.

Juniors did not fare so well in the annual drives. They came in fourth in the AFS, netting only $100. At this time, though, prom was near and the money was needed in two places at once. They also placed fourth in the United Fund Drive which was at the beginning of the year.

SAT, PSAT, ACT, Illinois State tests and National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Tests kept juniors very busy. In other years many of these tests were taken in the senior year, but because of the crowded colleges, juniors were advised to take tests as early as possible.

All in all, the juniors had a year full of anxiety mixed with excitement. Working hard and making their junior year one to remember, the class of '67 showed that they will be hard workers in the future.

Nanch Rosenthal and Rachel Laubaugh try to raise the funds in the junior treasury by selling candy at the student-faculty basketball game.

1965-66 sophomore class officers were Mary Lum, secretary; Ted Bradshaw, president; Debbi Woodring, vice-president, and Mary Jo Welcome, treasurer.

Sophomores Plan Oriental Charm, Winter Formal

"Oriental Charm" was chosen as the theme for this year's sophomore winter formal. Instead of choosing the usual seasonal title, a new idea was put into the decorations and entertainment. Two short dances at intermission were performed by Karen Hamilton, a sophomore.

Pushing the other classes in the annual drives, the class came in third in both the United Fund Drive and the AFS drive. At the half time of the faculty-student basketball game, sophomore skits which were to be in the Variety Show performed. A group of boys did a ballet, and some girls did both songs and dances.

With twenty-five on the honor roll, the underclassmen were not about to let any one else top them.

Freshman Lead Upperclassmen On Honor Roll

The newly installed freshman officers were Tom Lovelass, vice president; Camilla Hull, secretary; Mary Tebrugge, treasurer, and Jim Neal, president.

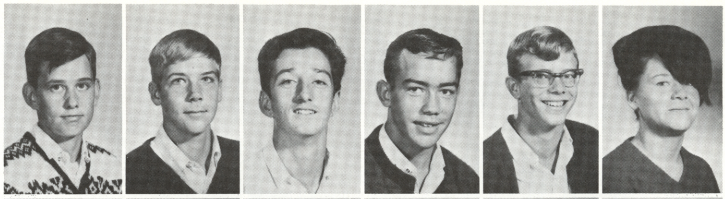

As every freshman class enters high school, they are inexperienced and a little afraid of the upperclassmen. Thrust into the United Fund drive, they managed to take second place. And with that as confidence they brought in $245 for a first place in the AFS drive.

The main project of the class was to sponsor the class night dance. Because of rainy weather this year's dance was held in the lounge. Twenty-five gallons of punch disappeared quickly to bring their first year to a close.

With a smile, Jane Legg accepts a United Fund donation from her father as Mary Tebrugge watches.

Clarion Staff Continues Working In Summer

Past yearbooks help Mary-Lou Britt and Benny Landgraf with layout plans.

Attempting to take a candid picture, Bruce Washburn is caught in the action.

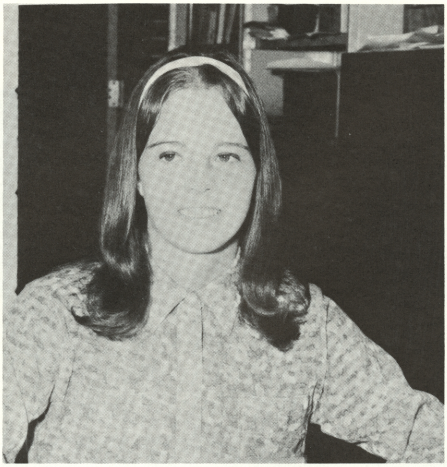

Editor of the 1967 Clarion, Linda Pilch, makes suggestions to her staff and new advisor. Seated are Debbie Bates, Mr. John Bishop and Carol Macy. Standing with Linda are Nancy Taylor and Sue Hobbs.

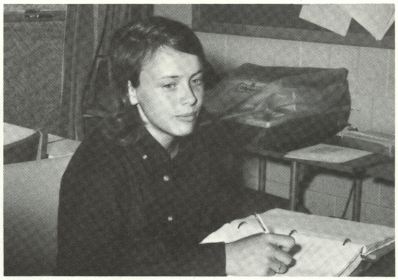

Penny and Mary-Lou type the last few pages of this book.

Only Hard Work Results In A Perfect Product

Editor Penny Landgraf smiles as she fills out darkroom requests.

Jo Ryburn, Business Manager, figures up Clarion costs.

Photography Editor, Cheryl Carver, prepares pictures for their folders.

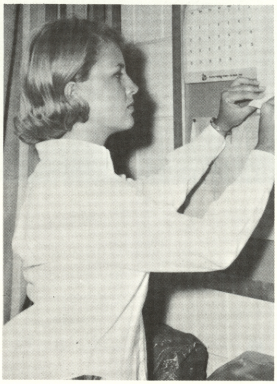

Besides being a year of change, 1965-66 was also a year of experience for Clarion workers. The editors found that cooperation, togetherness, and endless hours of hard work were needed to put out a yearbook.

Mr. Templeton, who finished his last year at U High, spent long hours during school, after school and on hot summer days working with our staff. We owe him more than our thanks.

Those who also showed us the close relationship we needed were the Newsfoto Publishing Company, Camera Craft Studio, Mr. Smith of the ISU Photo Service, and Jim Cole, Mr. Ruud's student teacher who donated many of the pictures used. To them our staff also expresses its gratitude.

With best wishes for another year of change, I present this 1966 Clarion to the U High student body and faculty.

Mary-Lou Britt, Copy Editor, reviews copy assignments.

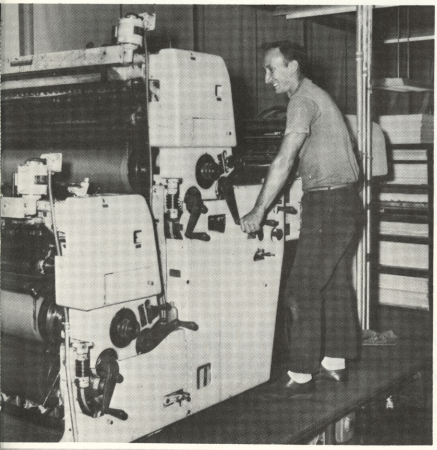

Layout Editor, Gretchen Gustus, checks for completed layout sheets.
